

THE BIOCHEMICAL SOCIETY

The Biochemical Society exists to advance the science of biochemistry through meetings and publications. Several meetings a year are held, each at a different place; original papers are presented and special topics are discussed at symposia and colloquia.

Genes and Proteins in Immunity

Traditionally, the multiplicity of the reactions involved in immune responses have been a source of excitement to some and yet frustration to many. However, with the advent of modern techniques in molecular biology, a considerable understanding of these complexities has begun to emerge. In recognition of the enormous contribution made to this field by Rodney Porter, the Biochemical Society held a special symposium in his honour in Oxford during July 1985. This volume contains the papers that were presented in tribute at the symposium.
